Election Managers Named; Explain Amendment

P. Rosenstream Contests Will Left By Sister

Observations...

By UDELL

There is much misunderstanding throughout the State as to why the Circuit Clerks are unable to supply at this time Absentee Ballots for the November 4 General Election. The reason these cannot be made available to those desiring to vote an absentee ballot is due to the fact that Section 3260, Mississippi Code of 1942, prohibits the Secretary of State from preparing and printing the Sample Ballot until 15 days prior to the November 4 election, which is October 20.

The Protestant churches of Bay St. Louis are working together, and plans are being made to conduct a religious census of the people in Bay St. Louis. A house-to-house canvass will begin Sunday, October 26, with representatives of the various churches taking the census. The cooperation of the public will be appreciated.

If you "Like Ike," or if you are going "all the Way With Adlai," be sure and attend the meeting at City Hall, Pass Christian, Saturday, October 25. Two prominent guest speakers will present the merits of each candidate, followed with an open discussion.

The Knights of Columbus will hold their monthly Communion Sunday at Our Lady of the Gulf church October 26, at 7:00 a. m. Mass. At a special meeting Monday night, plans were made for the K. C. initiation to be held November 9 in honor of Monsignor A. J. Gmelch. Another special meeting will be held Monday, October 27.

If you need a baby sitter or a means of transportation Tuesday, October 28, don't let that keep you from giving blood when the mobile unit comes to the Youth Center from 12:00 noon to 5:30 p. m. Call the Youth Center that day, and transportation will be provided. Bring your children with you, and baby sitters will be furnished. Be sure and give your blood for the men in Korea and for the protection of your family and loved ones during illness.

A meeting of the parishioners of Our Lady of the Gulf will be held at St. Joseph Memorial Hall Sunday, October 26, at 3:00 p. m. to discuss the proposed parochial school. Your attendance will be of vital importance; so, make plans to attend.

Four new heaters have been installed in the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre for the comfort of their patrons. The next production, "The Constant Wife," will be held November 6, 7 and 8.

Mrs. Delta Jacobi was elected president of the St. Joseph Academy Alumnae Sunday at the annual Homecoming celebration. Other officers elected were Mrs. Irene Hille, first vice-president; Miss Rosemary Bialze, second vice-president; Mrs. Bernice Flink, third vice-president; Mrs. Bran Arlignes, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Elaine Colson, recording secretary; and Miss Doris Carrio treasurer.

TO DISCUSS CANDIDATES AT PASS MEETING

Adlai or Ike?

There will be a town hall meeting Saturday, October 25, at Pass Christian City Hall.

Bill Weigand, former schoolmate of Stevenson, will state his reasons for supporting the Democratic candidate.

Jason Floyd, attorney of Gulfport, will extol the virtues of General Eisenhower.

An open discussion will be held following the speeches. Everyone on the Coast is urged and invited to attend.

Mr. Nicholson served as a director of Associated Press for the maximum period authorized by by-laws of that worldwide organization. He was elected to this board in 1933, retiring after 18 years' service.

He was born in New Orleans January 11, 1881. His mother, Eliza Polivert Nicholson, was publisher of The Picayune and author of several volumes of verse under her pen name, Pearl Rivers. His father, George Nicholson, was business manager of The Picayune.

Mr. Nicholson owned a home in Bay St. Louis on North Beach. Mr. Nicholson was educated at Dyer's grammar school, the Seawee preparatory school and Virginia Military Institute.

Money Order Sales Show Decrease In August 1952 Bay Business Report

When business activity for the month of August compared with that for August 1951, there was an indicated increase of about 2.5 per cent in Biloxi-Gulfport area, according to the current issue of the Mississippi Business Review, monthly publication of the Business Research Station of the School of Business and Industry at Mississippi State College.

However, August business activity fell a little short of the July 1952 level; the decrease was less than one percent.

In Biloxi general business failed by 1.6 per cent to come up to the level for last August, but it exceeded that for July 1952 by 7.4 per cent. For the comparison with last August the following changes were registered in Biloxi bank sales, up 0.5 per cent; money orders issued, down 12.2 per cent; postal receipts, a decrease of 18.2 per cent; telephones in service, 12.1 per cent; more numerous gas connections, an increase of 12 per cent; electric connections, up 13 per cent. For the comparison with July 1952, there was but one decrease: postal receipts were off by 9.7 per cent.

Gulfport reported 8 per cent more business activity in August than a year earlier, but showed a 10.4 per cent drop from the July 1952 level. For the comparison with August, the following changes took place: bank debits up 9.9 per cent (data incomplete); money order sales down 4.1 per cent; postal receipts up 26.8 per cent; telephones in service, up 6.3 per cent; electric connections up 6.6 per cent; and gas connections down 1.5 per cent. The comparison with July 1952, showed five indicator losses and one light increase, 2 per cent for gas connections.

Bay St. Louis reported a 12.2 per cent increase over last August by a 2.7 per cent drop from the level attained in July 1952. Indicator changes for the comparison with last August were: bank debits up; 10.5 per cent; money order sales, down 6 per cent; postal receipts, down 8.8 per cent; bank debits and money order sales were under their reported level for July 1952, but postal receipts and telephones in service showed an increase of 15.6 per cent and 3 per cent for the comparison.

Pass Christian reported 11 per cent less business in August than a year earlier and 2.5 per cent less than during July, 1952. Bank debits fell 23.6 per cent below those for August 1951 while money order sales, postal receipts, and telephones in service showed small increases. There were no changes in bank debits for comparison with July 1952, but money order sales were off 9 per cent and postal receipts fell by 21.9 per cent. Telephones in service gained approximately 1 per cent.

In Picayune there was a general increase of 5.5 per cent over July 1952, but a loss of about 1 per cent for the comparison with August 1951. Bank debits and money order sales showed identical decreases, 3.1 per cent for the comparison with August 1951. The same comparison gave increases of 14.9 per cent for postal receipts and 4.5 per cent for telephones in service. Each of the indicators had a better August record than for July 1952.

The pattern throughout 1952 has been similar to that for 1951. That is, it has been running the average about 700 per cent of the 1940 average. In August this year it reached 792 per cent compared with 821 per cent a year earlier in August.

Flag officer of the Southern Yacht Club.

The first wife of Mr. Nicholson was the former Miss Mary H. Fairchild, whom he married in 1905. She died in 1914.

Mr. Nicholson was a member of the Boston Club, the Louisiana Club, Audubon Golf Club, New Orleans Country Club, Bay-Wave Land Yacht Club and Southern Yacht Club.

A petition is on file in chancery court in Bay St. Louis, Miss., which contests the wills of two spinster sisters who left more than $500,000 to the operator of a home for the aged in New Orleans.

The petition, the chancery clerk's office said Wednesday, was filed last week on behalf of Felye Old Rosenstream, about 70, Jackson, Miss., brother of the women who died less than a month apart this year.

Named in the wills, according to the clerk is Mrs. Gladys Laudum, sister operator of the Laudum Sanatorium, 1008 Washington, New Orleans.

For the past two and a half years, Mrs. Lister has been "taking care of" the two women in her home for the aged, she said.

The sisters were Eleda B. Rosenstream, who was 73 when she died on May 11, and Pearl Rosenstream, who died at 65 on June 3. Eleda died at the sanatorium in New Orleans; Pearl at the Rosenstream home in Waveland, Miss.

Dan M. Russell Jr., one of Rosenstream's lawyers in the case, said that the petition alleged that "undue influence" was used by Mrs. Lister in the preparation of the wills left by his sisters.

The wills were being contested further, Russell said, because the sisters allegedly "were not physically or mentally capable of executing a will or codicil" when they died so. These reasons, Russell said, were set forth in the petition.

He said that Miss Eleda first made her will in 1942 "leaving everything to her sister," and on February 6, 1952, a typewritten codicil to the will made Mrs. Lister the executrix of the will in case Pearl died first.

On May of this year, Russell said, Miss Pearl made a will leaving "everything to Mrs. Lister with the exception of $10,000 to be inherited by her brother provided he did not contest the will."

"Everything," Russell said, included $117,000 in cash and bonds left by Miss Eleda; $122,000 in stocks and bonds left by Miss Pearl; between $50,000 and $80,000 in property on the Gulf Coast, and about $30,000 in property in their native Sweden.

"I'll be frank, I didn't know they had anything," she said, "and that's as sure as God is my judge."

Of the suit, Mrs. Lister said, "The whole thing is ridiculous. If I had $10 or a quarter of a million dollars and wanted to give it to you, that's my business."

Took Part in Two Years Ago She described herself as "first woman in the state of Louisiana to start an institution for the aged" of the type of the Laudum Sanatorium. Gladys Laudum was her name before she married.

Mrs. Lister said she started operating her sanatorium about 10 years ago. Former Mayor Robert S. Maestri helped in financing the venture by lending her $800, she said.

She said she took the Rosenstream sisters into my life" about two and a half years ago. Eleda, she said, died of cancer; Pearl of a circulatory system ailment.

Peter O. Rosenstream claims to be the closest surviving kin of the two women. Besides Russell, he engaged the Jackson law firms of Robertson & Robertson, and Bratton & Bratton to fight the wills.

The clerk said a hearing on the petition is scheduled before Chancery Judge D. M. Russell, Jr. October 27. Mrs. Lister said, however, that she had been advised by her attorneys that the hearing would be postponed until February 3.

Representing her are William A. West Jr., New Orleans, and the firm of Gex & Gex.

Russell said Wednesday that West and a minister, the Rev. John M. Allen of New Orleans, were the named witnesses to the codicil to Eleda's will.

Russell said that until the contest is decided, Robert L. Genin, will be the tentative administrator of the wills by court appointment.

Election managers for the election to be held Tuesday, November 4, were named this week. At this time, voters will be required to vote on the proposed constitutional amendment passed by the Legislature in its 1952 session. House Concurrent Resolution No. 33 will be submitted to the qualified electors of the state at the general election to be held November 4. The body of the proposed amendment is as follows:

A city-wide Hallowe'en Party is set for the night of October 31, when the Bay St. Louis Lions Club sponsors a civic enterprise for the first time.

The newly organized Club has extensive plans for the gala party, that will include fun for all, with a band, will start at Bay High, after showing off the goblins and elves and witches on Main street, will end at the City Hall grounds where booths and games will be set up, with amusement for all.

Prizes will be offered for several different age groups and for different sorts of costumes. Band music will entertain the guests and the evening will wind up in an old fashioned square dance. All of this is free.

A minimum charge will be made on soft drinks, hot dogs and hamburgers, so that everyone can eat at the Lions party, at a small cost. Special emphasis will be placed on the arrangements for the small fry, who in their colorful costumes make all Hallowe'en parties so attractive. The dance and other amusements are designed to keep the city's young people engaged, and keep destructive Hallowe'en tactics to a minimum in Bay St. Louis.

The Lions Club will hold its regular meeting for October next Monday at noon, at Hotel Reed. An interesting program is scheduled for the meeting.

LWV TO MEET

Judge Lee D. Hall, of the state supreme court, will address the League of Women voters of Bay St. Louis at their next general meeting Monday, November 3.

Judge Hall, a native of Laurel, spent his early years in Lumberton. After obtaining his law degree at the University of Mississippi in 1915, he went into partnership with his brother, Toxie, at Columbia and practiced there until his election to the Supreme Court in 1948. He is the first veteran of World War I to serve on the Supreme Court and has been a member of the Rotary Club for over 29 years.

Judge Hall will talk on the State Constitution and whether or not it needs to be revised.

A supper meeting will be held at Hotel Reed. The supper will be at 7:30 and Judge Hall will speak at 8:30. Members wishing to make reservations for the supper are to call Mrs. Leo Seal at 164. Anyone who wishes may come in at 8:30 to hear Judge Hall.

Girls To Observe Scout Week

Sunday October 26, will be Girl Scout Sunday, and will mark the beginning of Girl Scout Week.

On this day, Girl Scouts and Brownies will attend their own churches in uniform. All Catholic Scouts, in a body, will attend 8:30 Mass at Our Lady of the Gulf. All Protestant Scouts will attend the 11:00 O'clock service in their respective churches. In a body, Episcopal services at 9:30. Girl Scout Week is celebrated each year in honor of the founder, Juliette Low, whose birthday is observed October 31.

The days are called the "Seven Service Days," and during this time Girl Scouts make a special effort to show the community what they are doing.

The week begins with Girl Scout Sunday, followed by Home-making Day, Monday; Citizenship Day, Tuesday; Health and Safety Day, Wednesday; International Friendship Day, Thursday; Arts and Crafts Day, Friday; and Out-of-Doors Day, Saturday. In a letter to Girl Scouts over the world written on her birthday in 1924, Juliette Low said that "I hope we shall all remember the rules of this Girl Scout game of ours. They are to play fair, to play in your place and to play for your side and not for yourself, and as for the score, the best in a game is the fun, and the result. For when the recorder comes to write down your name, he writes not how you won or lost, but how you played the game."

All Right... Let Us Judge CATHOLICS BY THE BIBLE!

Many sincere people regard the Bible as the sole authority for Christian belief.

And they reject the teachings of the age-old Catholic Church because these teachings and forms of Catholic worship are not mentioned by name in Holy Scripture.

"Where," some will ask, "does the Bible say anything about the Mass or purgatory? And how about confession to a priest, praying to Mary, and those seven Sacraments you Catholics talk about? They're not in MY Bible."

Although everything contained in the Bible is true, yet the Bible is not the sole source of all truth. For example, we know that Christ established His Church... that the Church existed long before the Bible was completed... that millions lived and died in the Savior's truth without ever having seen a Bible.

But we are willing to set aside these historical truths for the moment and judge Catholic beliefs and practices by the Bible.

Take first, for instance, the fact that the Bible does not mention the Mass or purgatory by name. Well, neither does it mention the word Bible by name. Furthermore nowhere within its covers is it stated what are the writings which contain the inspired Word of God. The only authority you have for this is the word of the Catholic Church, which preserved and collected the Scriptural writings and put them between the covers of a book.

The word "Sacrament," meaning a sacred rite, is not used anywhere in the Bible. But Holy Scripture does make clear the sacredness of such Catholic rites as Baptism, Confirmation, the Eucharist, Matrimony, Penance, the Last Anointing, and Holy Orders, the latter rite being the deputizing of the successors to the Apostles.

The Sacraments were in possession of the Church and in daily use before a single line of the new Testament was written. People were being received into the Church by Baptism long before there was a New Testament. They were receiving Confirmation, were being married according to Christ's teaching, and praying over and anointing the dangerously sick.

Christ definitely did establish His Church. He did deputize His Apostles, and their successors, to continue His teaching. He did promise that His Church would endure forever, and could not fall into error. But He never did say, "All My teachings shall be in a book. Read and believe nothing else."

A tremendous, interesting, and enlightening pamphlet explaining the Bible's teaching concerning such things as the Sacraments, purgatory, why Catholics do not eat meat on Friday, why we call it Catholic Church instead of "Roman" Catholic. Foresters Need 15,000 Bushels Loblolly Cones Loblolly pine cones are beginning to mature. Area Forester, A. Stewart reports, and he states that Mississippi Forestry needs 15,000 bushels of cones to provide seed for the nurseries.

Buy any amount of loblolly cones, provided they are picked after maturity and contain good quality seed," Mr. Stewart said. He further stated that anyone interested in collecting pine cones should first contact him at Bay St. Louis for instructions and prices to be paid per bushel.

Pine cones picked before they are mature do not open to release their seed properly and the seed germinate poorly. Cones are mature when they become light enough to float in SAE 20 motor oil, according to Stewart.

"Pine cones begin opening on the trees within 20 days after they mature," Stewart said, "and should not be gathered after they have reached this stage because the seed in most cases have already fallen out of the cone."

The Forestry Commission is growing 30 million pine trees this year for distribution to the landowners of the state," Stewart said, "but this does not meet the demand. Our nursery production is being held down due to the fact that we cannot get and process sufficient seed."

Woman Hunter Violates Law

The yen to violate the game and fish laws is not confined to the male sex, according to Eugene Fly, Director of Conservation, "and it would seem," he says, "that the female of the species trigger-happy nimrod - is as deadly as the male."

The Game and Fish Commission's records show that within the last three weeks, Jetty Sanders of Louisville, Mississippi, has paid fines amounting to $75.00, two in Choctaw County of $25.00 each for hunting squirrels out of season and for hunting on Chocoma Refuge, and one of $25.00 in Winston County for hunting out of season. These cases were made by Wardens W. B. Carr and Lester Hamill, respectively. Fly suggests that if Miss Sanders were not such a good paying customer, her license probably would be revoked.

The game wardens are really working, Fly states, and are enforcing the laws without fear or favor, an evidence of which is the recent apprehension by Warden A. O. Turnage of Robert C. Blawell, Tax Assessor of Walthall County, for hunting squirrels out of season. On a plea of "guilty" Mr. Blawell was fined $25.00 in Justice of the Peace Preston Ginn's court. His one cat squirrel was donated to Walthall Hospital. On the same day, Warden Turnage also arrested Clyde Johnson and T. A. Wood for hunting squirrels out of season. On their pleas of "guilty" these men were fined $25.00 each by Judge Ginn. Their two cat squirrels each also went to Walthall Hospital.

Organizations to Hold Separate Meetings

Rt. Rev. Monsignor A. J. Gmelch announced at the regular monthly meeting of Our Lady of the Gulf Altar Society, Wednesday, October 15, that arrangements would be made by the December meeting for the groups to become individual organizations again.

Monsignor Gmelch introduced Father Robinson, new assistant, who said that he was happy to be at Our Lady of the Gulf church and would enjoy working with the parishioners.

At this time, a report was given on the recent magazine sale, on the charities and activities on St. Margaret's Daughters and on the bank balance.

It was announced that a mass meeting of all Catholics would be held in St. Joseph Academy auditorium at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, October 26, regarding Our Lady of the Gulf Parish school. As this is of vital interest to the Catholic parents and others, everyone is urged to attend.

It was also stated that the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine would be re-organized in the near future.

Mrs. Bernice Favre gave a resume of the N. C. C. W. meeting held in Long Beach last week, quoting from a letter by Mrs. Faulkner on her trip to France.

Friday, November 14 and Saturday, November 15, were the days chosen for the cake sale; Mrs. Charles R. Beyer was named chairman.

Mrs. E. M. Heath Sr., was appointed chairman of the nominating committee and will announce the names of the next group of officers at the November meeting.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. L. L. Kergosien and Mrs. L. S. Elliott; co-hostesses for the next

1. It is against the law, as your new tag is not good until November 1, 1952.

2. If someone else hits your car or you, a "hit-and-run," and leaves you dying or dead, we have no records of who owns the car and will not have until the Sheriff's finish selling all tags and send all records to the Patrol and Motor Vehicle Comptroller.

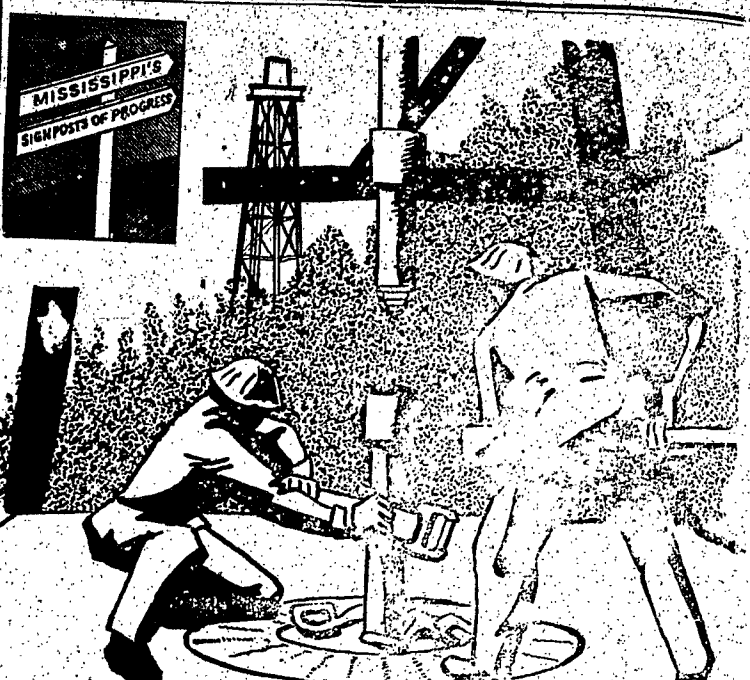

3. If someone steals your car, we do not have the record. Therefore, it would take considerable time to locate tag, motor number, etc., on hit-and-run, stolen car or any other violation.

We sincerely hope everyone will cooperate in this matter.

meeting will be Mesdames E. M. Heath, Charles J. Bous Sr., and T. A. Yates.

STATE REACHES 9TH PLACE AMONG OIL AND GAS PRODUCERS

In only 13 years since oil was first discovered here, Mississippi has risen to 9th place among the nation's oil and gas producing states. The newest of Mississippi's major industries, oil and gas, is already bringing over $40-million a year to wealthy land owners, employees, and material suppliers. Oil and gas dollars are felt in every part of the state, helping bring prosperity to all Mississippians.

ANOTHER SIGNPOST OF PROGRESS in the Magnolia State is the growth of the beer industry, due to the increased public acceptance of legally-regulated beer as the beverage of moderation.

The cost of natural gas... for baking your favorite pie or cooking a complete meal... on the average is about the same as it was 20 years ago. Natural gas service is one item in the family budget that most folks will agree is worth much more than it costs.

Actually, the cost of natural gas to bake a pie is less than one penny.

Cooking is just one of the many big jobs natural gas does in the home. Heating, water heating, refrigeration, clothes drying—all are done by natural gas... and so economically. We think you, too, will agree natural gas service is worth much more than it costs today!

Questions and Answers On The UN

1. AFTER ALL, WHAT GOOD IS THE U. N.?

This question, probably is asked more often than any other. It is not easily answered and the real answer does not lie merely in listing the accomplishments of the U. N., but can be given only by interpreting the basic concept of the United Nations, like people, can learn to work together only as they do work together. The U. N. gives nations the opportunity to work together for the good of all—an opportunity to understand common problems—to resolve differences. It has set up the procedures by which nations can work together—it provides the tools for cooperating—settling disputes by peaceful means. Its success should be determined by the extent of cooperation that is revealed between nations. It is essential that citizens understand clearly—so they can interpret to others—the concept of international cooperation that lies at the heart of world organization. If this is understood, then the answers to the other questions have meaning. The U. N. is an index of the willingness of nations to cooperate.

2. IS THE U. N. AN EFFECTIVE INSTRUMENT FOR PEACE?

The U. N. has never been given the authority that would enable it to become the instrument of peace that most people hoped it would be. In their thinking people have a habit of jumping from where they are to where they would like to be. They want peace but won't give up what is necessary to make an organization effective. Nations will not surrender enough national rights to create an international agency with authority adequate to keep peace. The U. N. has no authority to impose its decisions and power to enforce its recommendations.

To restore faith in the U. N. we must understand the nature of the organization and what it can and cannot do. At the same time it should be emphasized that if we did not have the U. N. it would be necessary to establish it—or something comparable to it, so essential is it to our future and to world peace—for it is here that nations learn—through U. N. Agencies—to work together.

3. WHY AREN'T U. N. MEMBERS MORE IN KOREA?

This is a very puzzling question to more people. Why haven't nations sent more men, more troops into Korea? And why aren't more of the members participating? The fact that other U. N. nations are not fighting in Korea doesn't mean that they are not fighting communist aggression. For example, Great Britain has several thousand men fighting communists in Malaya and the cream of the French Army is fighting the communists in Indo-China. In the Indo-China conflict, the French have lost as many men as has the United States in Korea. In addition strength must be maintained in Europe to forestall communist expansion. Some countries like Egypt and Iran are having the equivalent of internal revolutions and their few armed forces are being used to keep order at home. Forty-six nations have offered aid to the U. N. effort in Korea and members of the armed services in 17 countries are actually fighting in Korea.

4. DOESN'T THE U. S. PROVIDE TOO MUCH OF THE U. N. BUDGET?

Members of the United Nations are assessed by the General Assembly on the recommendation of the budgetary committee primarily on their ability to pay. The first year of the U. N. the U. S.

paid 40 percent of the U. N. budget. Each of the following years, the U. S. percentage has been gradually decreased until today it is 38.82 per cent. Other countries as they recovered from the war have been able to increase their contribution to the U. N.

A problem in getting countries to pay a greater share of the U. N. budget is that most of the contribution must be paid in dollars. Many countries could contribute more if they could pay in their own currency, such as British pounds or French francs, or Indian rupees. But since the U. N. headquarters is located in New York, money for supplies and salaries for the most part must be in dollars and there is a shortage of dollars in almost every country.

In the specialized agencies that are located in other parts of the world and in those that are older than the U. N., the U. S. pays a smaller share of the budget. For example, in the Universal Postal Union located in Switzerland, the U. S. pays 4.34 per cent of the budget and in the International Labor Organization located in Geneva, the U. S. pays 12.67 per cent of the budget. The United Nations is the only permanent international organization where the U. S. is paying more than 33 and 1/3 per cent of the budget. It is the policy of the U. N. not to have any member pay more than 33 and 1/3 per cent and the organization is gradually working toward that goal. The total contribution of the U. S. to the U. N. budget and all the specialized agencies for 1952 is $52 million. The total budget of the U. N. including those of all the specialized agencies is a little over $77 million.

5. CAN THE U. N. INTERFERE WITH THE POLICIES OF THE U. S. GOVERNMENT AND THE GOVERNMENTS OF THE STATES?

Chapter 1, article 2 of the U. N. Charter specifically states that "Nothing contained in the present Charter shall authorize the U. N. to intervene in matters which are essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of any state or shall require the Members to submit such matters to settlement under the present Charter; but this principle shall not prejudice the application of enforcement measures under Chapter VII" (measures for collective security to repel aggression).

In 1945 when the U. S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee was considering the ratification of the U. N. Charter, the question was raised as to whether the economic and social matters which the U. N. was designed to promote could be furthered without U. N. intervention in the domestic affairs of individual countries. This was asked in view of the fact that the General Assembly would have the right on such matters, provided these matters have international repercussions. Accordingly, in ratifying the Charter the Senate Foreign Relations Committee pointed out that the San Francisco drafting committee stated there was full agreement that nothing contained in the sections in the charter one economic and social matters could be construed as giving authority to the U. N. to intervene in the domestic affairs of member states. In other words the U. N. can make recommendations to its members about the solution to economic and social problems but it cannot force members to comply with these recommendations.

The U. N. is a meeting place where treaties have been drafted on economic and social matters, but in each case member nations are free to accept or reject the treaty or to attach reservations to it so that it may apply in specific cases. Many treaties state they will have effect only when the Congress or Parliament of the country concerned enacts special legislation which allows the treaty to apply to the citizens and the government of that country. It is not the intention to have the U. N. interfere in internal or domestic matters that are the sole concern of individual nations.

6. IS IT POSSIBLE FOR THE U. N. TO ACCOMPLISH ANYTHING SO LONG AS THE SOVIET UNION IS A MEMBER?

The hostile attitude of the Soviet Union and its satellites in the U. N. has been a great deterrent to the work of the U. N. especially in matters relating to disarmament and control of atomic energy. Even here, however, the U. N. continues to work for a solution, hoping for eventual agreement. The U. N. is, more than anything else, a world forum where differences can be argued and where conflicting interests may be resolved without resorting to force. If the U. N. didn't reflect the present tensions in the world today, it would hardly be a useful body. The U. N. is the one permanent place where the U. S. and the Soviet Union can meet and watch each other's moves; this provides an opportunity for recognition if any is possible.

In other areas of U. N. activity where the cooperation of the Soviet Union has not been so essential, the U. N. has been able to make some progress. The U. N. has been successful in preventing wars or has helped stop wars as in Indonesia, Kashmir, Palestine and Greece. On economic and social questions the U. N. has a long list of achievements among which are: over 400 million people given independence from colonial powers; a large technical assistance program to help raise standards of living throughout the world; the reduction of disease in many countries; the achievement of political rights for women in countries which never had given women the right to vote.

7. IS IT TRUE THAT MOST COUNTRIES IN THE U. N. ARE AGAINST THE U. S.?

Other countries do not envy the U. S. our high standard of living, our ability to produce great quantities of materials, the fact that the world war did not touch our borders; that we have no large scale problems of disease, poverty, or illiteracy.

According to one expert, "no great power at the peak of its success is ever loved by smaller powers. Nations, no matter how good its intentions may be. This is an occupational hazard of great powers."

"But whatever we do, we must be prepared to be criticized by one side or the other. If we please France, we may displease Tunisia and the countries of Asia and Africa. If we please Egypt, we may displease Britain. If we please Germany, we may displease France. A mature nation, like a mature person, must be prepared to take the consequences of decisions which nations, no matter how good its intentions may be, to risk criticism, opposition and even hostility. It is utopian to demand a foreign policy which would please all the world all of the time and invariably win us friends." Statement by Blair Bolles, Foreign Policy Association.

Most of the countries of the U. N. have been on the side of the U. S. in the most critical issues facing the organization: on disarmament, Korea and the embargo against the Chinese communists.

County Agent's Notes

By HOWARD SIMMONS

PORK GRADES

New federal grades for pork carcasses recognize the preference for lean, meaty hogs rather than fat hogs. These new grades should result in a fairer basis of payment for slaughter hogs.

The new grades are: Choice No. 1—hogs in this grade have the minimum finish to produce high grade pork and a high ratio of lean to fat. They yield about half their carcass weight in hams, loins, picnic and Boston butts.

Choice No. 2—these products high quality pork, they are decidedly overfat. The proportion of lean to fat is low and the carcasses yield less than 45 percent of weight in loins, hams, picnic and Boston butts.

Medium—These are slightly underfinished and produce soft, flabby cuts with little marbling. The yield of lean cuts is high but the ratio of total lean and fat to bone is somewhat low.

Cull—Decidedly underfinished hogs. Carcasses have high ratio of lean to fat but the cuts are inferior and are suitable only for processed meats.

RATS

Are you feeding your short corn harvest to rats? If so, stop and think a moment. Do you know that it costs about $5.00 to feed one rat one winter? On an average size farm rats destroy about $60 worth of feed each winter.

You can get rid of all the rats and mice on your farm for about 60 cents. So, aside from the fact that rats are dirty, known disease carriers and sometimes attack children, it will pay you financially to get rid of them.

Use warfarin to do the job. When using warfarin around the home and farm, be careful of the children and pets. Warfarin is relatively safe but should not be handled carelessly.

GRAIN SITUATION

Corn. Crop estimates are that we produced the smallest crop since 1901. The average corn yield for the state as a whole is only 12 1/2 bushels per acre. The 1952 crop is estimated to be around 14 million bushels short of the 1951 crop.

However, the corn crop in the nation as a whole is estimated to be 224 million bushels greater than in 1951.

Oats. Acreage was increased in 1952, as well as yields per acre. In 1951 Mississippi farmers planted 115,000 to oats and made an average yield of 29 bushels per acre. This year we planted 167,000 acres and made an average yield of 40 bushels an acre.

Soybeans. Increased production due to increased acreage will be the story on Mississippi soybeans in 1952. The average yield is expected to be about the same as in 1951, but acreage was increased about 25,000 acres. This will result in production of about 6,300,000 bushels this year as compared to 5,990,000 last year.

Conservation News

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan announced today the realignment of USDA responsibilities in the fields of soil surveys and soil, crop and water management research. Responsibility to conduct the National Cooperative Soil Survey, which has been the responsibility of the Agricultural Research Administration, has been assigned to the Soil Conservation Service, and responsibility for all research in soil and crop management and in water management on farms related to crop production has been assigned to the ARA, including that previously carried on by the SCS.

This realignment of responsibilities will be effective as of November 15, 1952. The purpose of this action is to consolidate into one operation the soil survey work of the ARA and the conservation survey work of the SCS, and to focus more sharply all resources for soil, crop and water management research on the various problems that confront farmers throughout the country.

Both lines of work are conducted cooperatively with state agricultural experiment stations. The Secretary explained that the action is being taken after consultation with and approval of the Experiment Station Committee on Organization and Policy of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, and after discussion with other associations and groups interested in soil and water conservation and management, such as the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts.

A. D. 1952, to defend the suit No. 8364 in said Court of M. A. Castro. The same being a suit to quiet and confirm complainant's title to said land above described wherein you are a defendant.

This 30th day of September A. D. 1952.
A. C. MITCHELL,
Chancery Clerk.
By: Marie E. Quintini, D. C.
10/3/4t.

"My purpose is to increase the efficiency and the effectiveness of public service rendered by this Department of Agriculture in these fields. I believe that the Department's research and soil survey will be strengthened by this action," the Secretary commented. "I consider these assignments as another forward step in organizational adjustments within the Department for more efficient administration to serve better the needs of agriculture."

"The soil management research in ARA and the State agricultural experiment stations is already closely integrated with crop research," the Secretary explained. "The shift of certain research from SCS to ARA will permit fitting it into an integrated pattern and result in the development of a sounder body of management technology. This action will involve the establishment of special procedures for insuring that research in soil survey and conservation of the National Cooperative Soil Survey and the Bureau of Reclamation, the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Geological Survey, the cooperative extension service, the State Experiment stations, State departments of agriculture and conservation, and similar agencies."

The soil survey in the ARA has had a broad program of cooperation with many other agencies. The Secretary said that work under way will be completed according to prior commitments, and that in the future such agencies should look to the Soil Survey in the SCS for similar assistance and cooperation.

This action establishes one comprehensive technically sound national soil survey that will fill all the needs of the SCS program and meet all the soil survey requirements of other agencies.

"Although combined into one organization in the SCS for effective coordination, the research and scientific aspects of the National Cooperative Soil Survey program will continue to be within the general responsibilities of the ARA administrator," the Secretary said. Agreements with State agricultural experiment stations and other research agencies will continue to be subject to ARA approval.

"The assignment of these two lines of work will speed up the rate of completion and publication of soil surveys for all of the agricultural land in the United States," the Secretary stated. "Furthermore, it will complement and strengthen the capability concept which is embodied in the basic physical objective of all conservation activities by Department agencies, which is the use of each acre of agricultural land in accordance with its needs for protection and improvement."

The National Cooperative Soil Survey in the SCS will develop and conduct a broad program of scientific and technical work to meet the soil survey needs of the whole department of Agriculture and the other Federal and State agencies, the Secretary explained. This includes the requirements of the ARA, FMA, PHA, and the Forest Service; the Bureau of Reclamation, the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Geological Survey; the cooperative extension service, the State Experiment stations, State departments of agriculture and conservation, and similar agencies. The soil survey in the ARA has had a broad program of cooperation with many other agencies. The Secretary said that work under way will be completed according to prior commitments, and that in the future such agencies should look to the Soil Survey in the SCS for similar assistance and cooperation.
